Honors College Application

Essay(s)
You are required to answer all the following questions.

Essay 1
Please describe the courses of study and the unique characteristics of the CUNY Honors College that best fit your intellectual interests and passions. Why do those interests and passions make you a good candidate for the CUNY Honors College? (150 words or fewer)

Response:
The CUNY Honors College provides a variety of benefits for its students, and it is due to the internships as well as advanced study opportunities that the University Scholarship can bring that have attracted me to this prestigious program. The new facilities and the friendly faculty members that encourage academic excellence also contribute to my interest of being one of the CUNY Honors students. I am determined to major in nursing to become a Registered Nurse in two years, and continue my education in order to receive a Bachelor of Science degree in Nursing. CUNY Honors College consists of specialized courses, which I need to gain a greater knowledge of healthcare as I pursue my goal in the medical profession.

Essay 2
In the space provided below, please describe one of your activities (extracurricular, personal, or work related) that has been most meaningful to you in terms of your intellectual and leadership development and why. (150 words or fewer)

Response:
I am a Youth Volunteer of the American Red Cross, and being part of such a prestigious organization has allowed me to perform my best within the responsibility of raising money and preparing Health Packages, which were sent to concentrated areas in New Orleans in the support of the Katrina disaster last year. Important services such as these were carried out in a quick manner in order to meet delivery deadlines. Being given the obligation of completing such task has helped me achieve my own accomplishments just by a concentration of focus and organization. These qualities have helped me manage required assignments such as those of my Advanced Placement classes in the past 2 years. It has also given me a sense of motivation.

Essay 3
Please write an essay of not more than 500 words that conveys to the reader a sense of who you are and what you care about. Possible topics may include, but are not limited to, experiences that have shaped your life, the circumstances of your upbringing, your most meaningful intellectual challenge or achievement, the way you see the world, the people in it, events great and small, everyday life, or any theme that appeals to your imagination. Please remember that we are concerned not only with the substance of your prose but with your writing style as well.

Response:
Learning about my culture has given me a different perspective of life. It has brought me to an understanding of an important part of myself. I was born into the Filipino and Chinese cultures, which I had grasped in fear of forgetting who I truly am when I left for America. I did not want to be "Americanized" and leave my culture behind, so I sought ways of learning its origins outside of World history and Asian Literature. It was due to my own desire to absorb everything about my culture that I joined the Filipino Club called "Kasama," and the Chinese Student Association during my freshman year. "Kasama" means "family" in Tagalog, a dialect of the Filipino language, and it is a
